SUMMARY

Senior Python Developer with 7+ years of backend experience, currently at EPAM Systems building Python and TypeScript services for healthcare platforms with REST and GraphQL APIs on AWS. Previously spent over three years on the CTRL Wallet (XDEFI) multichain wallet, designing microservices, blockchain indexers, and Web3 infrastructure, with earlier work in fintech, NFT marketplaces, and e-commerce.

Works AI-native: ships through spec-driven workflows with Claude Code and other coding agents, writes custom agent skills and rules, and integrates MCP, RAG, and agentic pipelines. Hands-on with AWS and Azure, Docker, Kubernetes, CI/CD, and a self-hosted home lab, and builds native desktop and WebAssembly apps in Rust.

Remote

Senior Python Developer · EPAM Systems

Building scalable Python backend services in the healthcare domain with an AI-native development workflow, using LLM-powered agents and tooling across design, coding, testing, and review.

- Design and develop backend services with REST and GraphQL APIs in Python (FastAPI) and TypeScript for healthcare platforms, with a focus on reliability, performance, and maintainability.
- Build and operate cloud-native services on AWS (Lambda, ECS, S3, RDS, SQS/SNS, API Gateway), with infrastructure and deployments automated through CI/CD.
- Drive an AI-native engineering workflow: use AI coding agents (Claude Code, Copilot) for spec-driven development, code generation, refactoring, test authoring, and code review.
- Author custom agent skills, prompts, and MCP tooling that encode team conventions and domain knowledge, making AI agents productive and consistent across the codebase.
- Integrate LLM capabilities into products — retrieval-augmented generation (RAG), structured extraction, and agent/tool-calling pipelines over clinical and operational data.
